

Student Finalists

George and Henri Danzelaud

As wildfires blazed across Oregon in early September of 2020, brothers George and Henri Danzelaud wanted to help. They have a passion for animal welfare, so they looked for a way to help people and pets affected by this disaster. When they learned that the Oregon Humane Society had been deployed to deliver supplies, move pets from local shelters in fire zones, and care for the animals, they decided to raise money to help rescue more pets in need. They put their musical talents to work, hosting a virtual fundraising concert for the animals. They set up a donation page, and their inspiring music captured the attention of animal loving fans. More than 300 people tuned in for their concert and they raised $5,500 for the Oregon Humane Society, making them a logical choice as Student SASEE finalists.
